ملخص النص

University researchers face challenges in producing high-quality papers due to grammatical errors, plagiarism, ineffective summarization, and limited plagiarism detection tools. Improved research quality requires real-time feedback, advanced data analysis, and specialized training. A holistic solution is vital to address these issues and enhance research integrity and originality.